VOLUME 6

The Eagles' View staff would like to dedicate the final edition of the 1982-1983 school year to the Seniors. In this edition we will be spotlighting the eighteen people who have left behind memories which will last throughout the years.

DEAR SENIORS:

Saluting

graduating

Dear Seniors,

Yes, you have completed this course and I am very proud of you indeed. I joy with you and share your excitement as you stand at this threshold in your life. I love you and pray that you will live every moment of every day of your life with eternal values in view. Please ask yourself this question:

What is my life? Is it mine alone?
Or does Christ call me to kneel at His throne?

I'll answer His call and give Him my all.

And now my life is not my own.

Galatians 2:20, Mrs. Stringer

To my seniors: This school endeavored to teach principles that will help you to be successful before God and men. We (teachers and administration) have shared our knowledge and lives so that you could see that making a life is of primary importance and that making a living will follow. Our prayers and affection is with you.

Mr. Isenberg

To the TCS seniors of '83: What a joy it is to me to see all of you grow in the Lord! We have shared how God's Word is application to any life, any time, any where. Now it is up to you to continue your lives. I am grateful for having had a small part of your lives at TCS. May you "go with God" and keep Him central in your future!

Mr. Cranford

This year's valedictorian is Priscilla Klob. Priscilla has the highest scholastic standing among all of the seniors. The salutatorian is Cheryl Morris. Priscilla and Cheryl will be giving speeches at the graduation ceremony.

JUNIOR SENIOR BANQUET

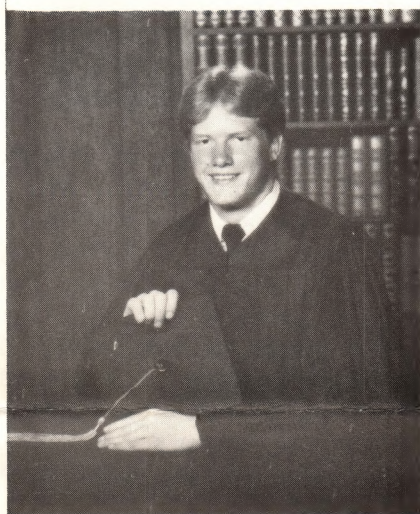

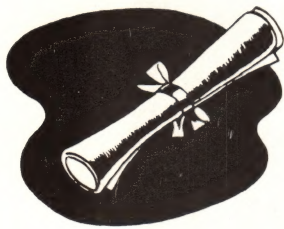

Friday, May 6, 1983, the Junior and Senior Class Banquet was held. The program included reading of the Senior wills by Layne LeBaron, dinner by Vance Godbey's Catering, the senior challenge and entertainment by Carey Bates, reading of the senior prophecy by Darla Kuhn and Bryan Choate and the presentation of the senior memory books by Kerri Davis and Darra White.

Seniors

I, Tim Rollins, being of partially sound mind, do will to Todd Cupit my locker full of many memories of Hal Helton and myself. To Barry Nickerson, I leave my track spikes which he desired very much. And to Hoss Ledford, I will my ability to goof-off in study hall and get away with it.

I, Shari Johnson, being of sound mind will to Janet Ray all the fun times at ABC, and to Jennifer Frisbie, I will all the cheese balls she can eat. And to the Junior Class, I leave the school spirit and great times your senior year brings.

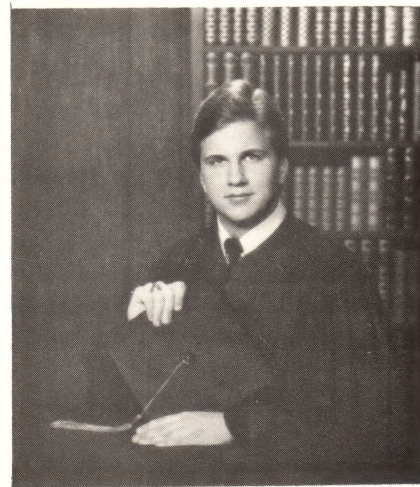

I, Wayne Gagnon, being of relatively sound mind, do hereby will my ability to receive demerits to anyone who needs it. To all the future seniors, I leave a year as fun and happy-go-lucky as mine has been.

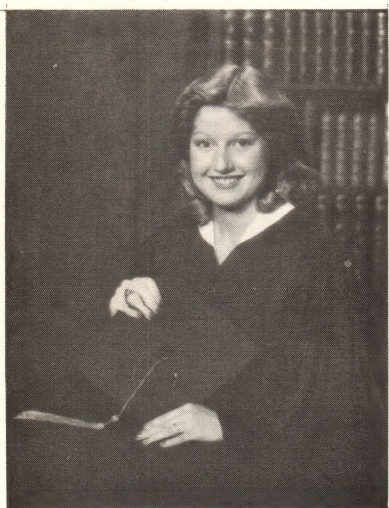

I do hereby certify that this is my last will and testament as a senior at Temple Christian School.

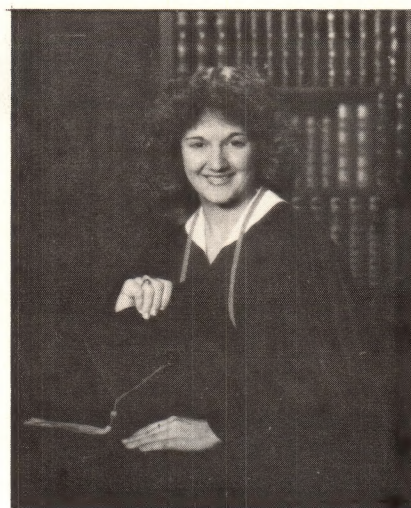

I, Leah Wingard, being of sound mind, do hereby bequeath all the patience and understanding that it takes to go through high school.

I, Jon Isenberg, will to the Junior Class, the spirit and enthusiasm that the seniors of 1983 had in their pep rallies. I will to Toby Ingraham the love I have for Choir. I will to Keith Windle my chemistry book and my secret experimental notes that I took during lab. I will to Jennifer Frisbie, my topsiders so she can have as much fun in them as I did. And I will to the school the best of times for '83-'84.

Seniors

I, Kathy Durham, being of sound mind, will to Junior Johnson my ability to reach the high notes in choir. To Darla Kuhn, I leave my ability to giggle through Mr. Isenberg's government class. To Chad Millsap, I leave a 1984 Senior of his own choice so that he will have an older girl to hang around with next year. To Rachel Wade, I leave my rare talent of riding a roller coaster without being scared. To my little sister, Danielle, I leave all the fun memories that I have had here at TCS.

I, Jill Graves, being of sound mind (I think), will to Todd Cupit and Layne LeBaron my even-temper in sports. To my little twin, Char Torti, I leave my one and only demerit, may you laugh forever. To Bev Shults, I leave a sack of rocks to fill the empty space in her head. To all the '83-'84 Cheerleaders, I leave all the fun and hard work of being a Cheerleader. To all next year's juniors and seniors, I leave all the memories of the best two years of my life.

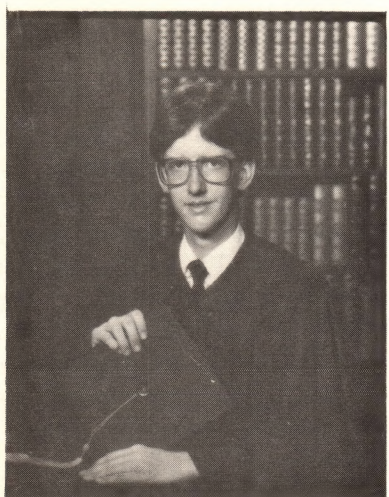

I, Cheryl Morris, being of sound mind and body, do hereby give my last will and testament.

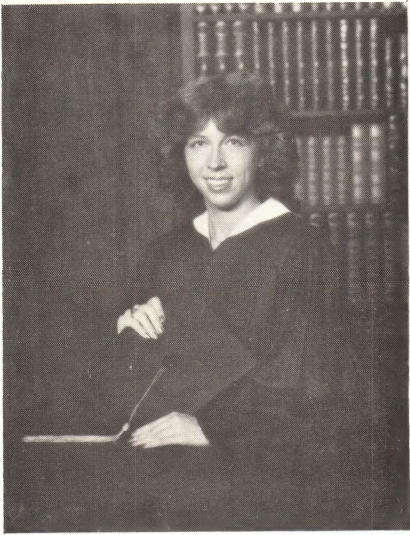

To Tracy Holdridge, my Big Red gum and the ability to chew it without getting caught as much as I did. To Michaelyne, my old, worn out P.E. uniform, since I never wear it anyway. To Tina Vaughn, all my stupid jokes that she laughs at anyway, and a fake pass so she can "skip" anytime she wants. To Kimmy Anderson, anything so she'll "settle down." To my brother Kyle, all my old homework paper and all the good times I've had.

I Gina Torti, being of sound mind and spirit leave to my sweet, little sister, Char, loads of fun during her junior year. To Goat Choate, one (and only one girlfriend) during his senior year. To Tina Vaughn, all my notes from high school, believe me she will need them. To Janet, my beautiful, faded, green culottes. And to my brother, James, good grades and No Demerits!

I, Texas Culberson (alias Brick Culberson), being of insane mind and body (I think), do hereby bequeath the following: to Doug Young, I do hereby leave my ability to be late 35 times in one week and not get caught. To Todd Cupit, I do hereby leave my speed in running to be used in sports, especially the mile in track. To the basketball team of 83-84, I leave my talent and spirit for a super season. To whomever it may concern, I leave my locker with all the secret compartments.

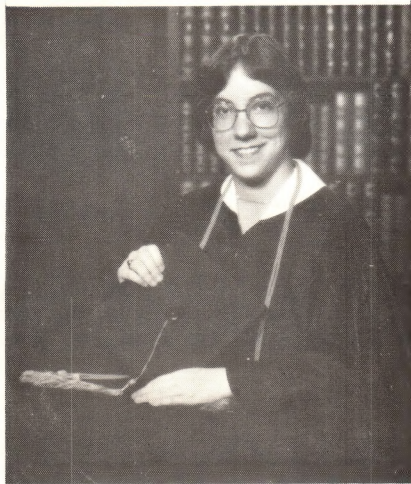

Seniors

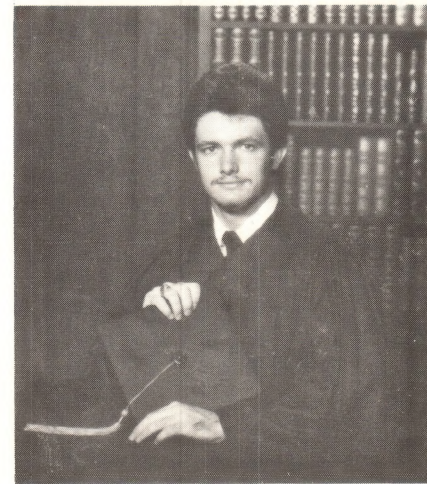

I, Tammy Barber, being of sound mind and body will to LeAnn Cantrell my Typing II book and typewriter, along with the ability to type on it. To David Barber, my brother, I will my grammar book, I hope he gets more out of it than I did. To Daryl Cook, I will all the fun memories of my senior year. To Dennis Barber, my little brother, I will my straight "A" conduct grade. To all the juniors I will a great senior year.

I, Charmane Johnson, being of sound mind and body, leave my ever-loving #30 to Jennifer Frisbie. I will to Beverly Shults my ability to control my talking. I leave to my so-called "sweetheart" my heart. I also leave to the next year cheerleaders all the great times I had as an Eagle's Cheerleader. Last, but not least, I leave all the fun and the exciting (sometimes frustrating) times to the seniors of '84.

I, Priscilla Klob, will to Suzanne Spencer and Kimberly Worley all my good grades, easy tests, and nice teachers; to Mr. Geoghan, future classes as sweet as the class he has this year; to Mr. Hoover, an honor society who will get things done on time (i.e., bulletin boards); to the eighth graders, a fun freshman year (since they're finally in high school!); and to all my friends, a future as wonderful as they are.

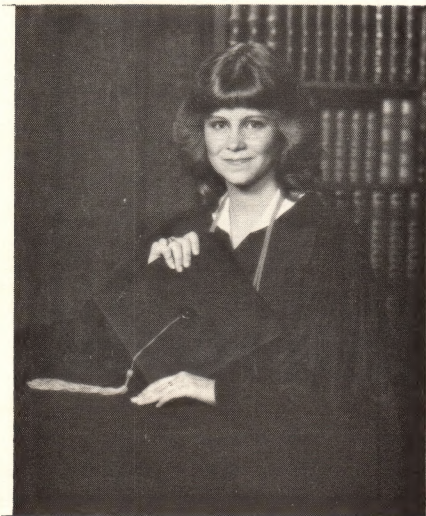

I, Todd Rogers, being of sound mind and body, do hereby bequeath my belongings to the following: to the honorable Layne LeBaron, I leave my annual knee surgery along with my trusted crutches. To Chad Milsap, I leave the ability to find the girl of his dreams, as I have. To the students of TCS I leave my dreams, hopes, aspirations, and desire that they love this school as I have.

I, Lisa Lynne Cook, (better known as Lizard), being of some sort of mind, will to the following: to my brother Daryl, a non-argumentative spirit and to his teachers, the ability to understand his mind; to my little brother Adam, my half-way decent grades, and my tupperware lunchbox; to Shelly Partlow, (if she is still here) a fantastic yearbook; to the future Honor Society members, the brains to stay in the Honor Society; finally to all Temple Christian, I leave my love and respect and hope everyone's years at Temple will be as much fun and as prosperous as mine have been.

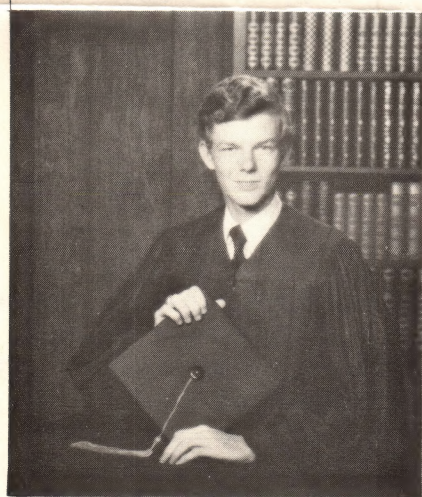

Seniors

I, Sharla Williams, being of sound mind, will to Bev Shults my cheerleading stuff. Also, I will to Melissa Sewell the Honor Society secretary. Last but not least, I will to the future Senior Class a great senior year.

I, Gina Nelson, being of unsound mind, will all my good grades to Jennifer Frisbie and my great typing ability to Todd Cupit. And last, but not least, I will to everyone the greatest and best times I had at TCS.

I, Jeff Brewer, being of sound mind, do leave my special carpeted locker to Michael Seaton. I leave all my "Said" words from journalism to LeAnn Cantrell. To Darra White, I leave all my Spanish vocabulary sheets to add to the many she already has. To any junior who thinks they can handle it, I leave a great and exciting Senior year.
